The Quarterly News Letter
Association of Surgeons of Assam

Nature always wears colours of the spirit. – R.W Emerson

CHAIRMAN'S COLUMN:

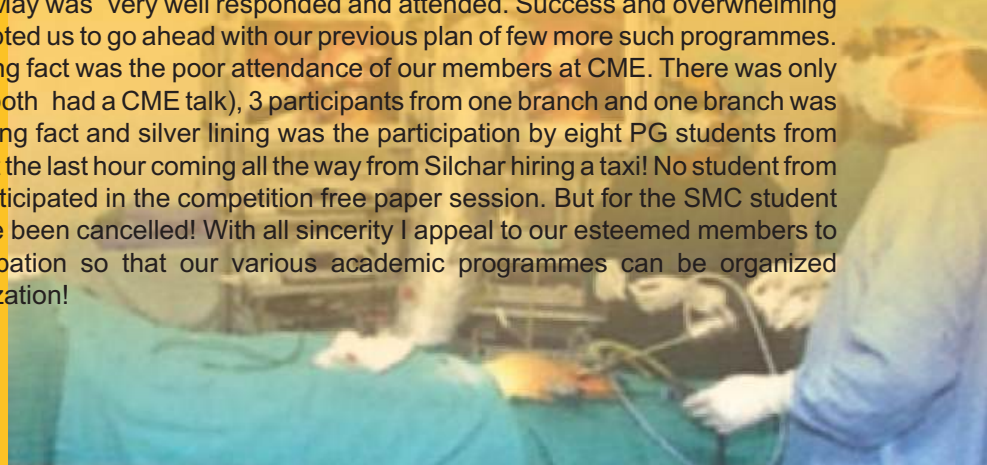

Dear esteemed members of ASA,

Season's greetings from your chairman and central committee,
Association of Surgeons of Assam!

As winter made way for spring, so also spring had to make way for summer and brought along with the stunning colours of Sunaru (Golden shower), Ezar, Krishnachura (Gold mohar) and many more! By the end of May, our esteemed members must have received the first News Letter, the Spring issue of my tenure and I have received very inspiring comments and opinion from some of them including Hon. Secretary, ASI.

Mid term CME & BURN:

The Mid Term CME on 23rd May at HAMM Hospital & Research Centre, hosted by the hospital under ageis of Nagaon Branch of ASA. The event went off very well as the team under able leadership of Dr.C.Islam, put all out efforts to make it a grand success. The training programme on Essential Burn Care organized by Burn Care Foundation, Guwahati in collaboration with our association followed by public awareness programme on First aid and initial care of burn injuries on 22nd May was very well responded and attended. Success and overwhelming response of this programme has prompted us to go ahead with our previous plan of few more such programmes. But unfortunately the most disappointing fact was the poor attendance of our members at CME. There was only single participant from two branches (both had a CME talk), 3 participants from one branch and one branch was not represented at all. Most encouraging fact and silver lining was the participation by eight PG students from Silchar Medical College, who made it at the last hour coming all the way from Silchar hiring a taxi! No student from Assam & Gauhati Medical College participated in the competition free paper session. But for the SMC student Competition paper session would have been cancelled! With all sincerity I appeal to our esteemed members to introspect, and increase their participation so that our various academic programmes can be organized successfully to take forward our organization!

Burn injury:

Members will agree with me that management of burn injury in our state is far from satisfactory. This area of medical care is still a neglected or inadequately managed one. Only those unfortunate family members can realize the plight of the hapless victims when injury exceeds even 40% BSB or so. Fortunately, in recent years, there has been enormous development and advancement in this area with change of age old concept. But due to lack of or enough publicity, training and awareness such advancement is not known to many of our professional colleagues, paramedics and public as well. Therefore, with a view to sensitize our members and make them familiar with the development, this year we decided to focus on BURN. We had the training and awareness programme already in the Mid term CME, as stated above and are joining hands with Plastic Surgery society to organize a CME programme with emphasis on electric burn. We have also plan of organizing more such programme at Nagaon, Sivasagr & Nalbari. These will surely go a long way in arming our doctors, nurses and paramedics with updated knowledge in providing initial care much better, which in turn will improve the prognosis. But this will only be possible with your active support and participation. We are simply the organizer, it is you who will make it a reality and reap the benefit!

Membership growth & development:

After celebrating silver Jubilee of our association, our membership strength stands at 476 of whom only 271 have ASI membership. As dual membership (member of ASA & member of ASI) is not any more possible and has been ruled out by ASI, ASA membership is not considered/ counted by ASI, ever since we were recognized as Assam State Chapter of ASI. So my earnest appeal to all ASA (non ASI) members to upgrade themselves to ASI membership. Similarly our existing Associate members are also requested to upgrade themselves to life members by providing their MS pass certificate. The current membership fee is Rs. 7700.00 (including entrance & ID card fee) net, which in all probability will be increased to Rs. 10,000.00 or more in the next AGM in December. Therefore, I request our members to cash on the current fee structure at the earliest.

Come, let us make our association stronger and more vibrant!

Thanks,

(Rabindra Nath Mazumder)

Burn Injuries- Highlights on Epidemiology and Modalities of treatment

Burns are the most severe injury that the human body can encounter. The sufferings associated burn injuries cannot be compared with that of any other injuries. Burn injuries, not only inflict physical trauma but also cause tremendous mental trauma to the patients as well as to the relatives.

Burns are a significant cause of morbidity and mortality worldwide. Worldwide it is estimated that each year over 300,000 people die from fire-related burn injuries and millions more suffer from burn-related disabilities and disfigurement (World Health Organization 2008). South Asian countries bear a significant burden of injury due to burns.

Though the exact incidence of burns in India is not known, in a crude estimate, more than 3 million people suffer from burn injuries and about a million of them with moderate to severe burns, require hospitalization. Out of these severely burnt, more than one lakh die due to burns every year. There are only 60 designated Burn Units, mostly located in the cities, which can offer 500 burn beds to treat 10000 patients annually. The remaining 990000 patients do not get the type of treatment they really deserve. Though we do not have data from Assam, extrapolating from the Indian data, it can be inferred that Assam with a population of 3.3 crore, have about 82000 burns of different severity. Out of them about 3000 requires hospitalization every year. With the addition of a few Burn Units in Government sector in Assam, we have 6 numbers of Burn units with 40 burn beds, which can treat about 800 patients every year. Rest 2200 patients do not really get any effective treatment.

The analysis done by the author amongst the patients in the Burn Unit of Assam Oil Hospital, Digboi in 2003, revealed that 85.1% burn injuries occurred at home, 12% occurred at industries and only 3% occurred as a result of traffic accidents. Though majority of the domestic burns are accidental (82.5%), 11.5% of them were due to attempt at suicide and 6% were homicidal in nature. A recent study done in 2014 at the Burn Unit of Burn Care Foundation (NEMCARE hospital) reveals that there is increase in suicidal burn (17.3%), decrease in homicidal burns (0.9%) accidental burns remaining almost same (81.8%).

The treatment of burns has undergone tremendous change in the recent years. The earlier treatment of daily dressing of the burn wounds followed by skin grafting weeks after the separation of sloughs, lead to delayed wound healing and eventual scarring and contractures. This method, which is still followed in most of the hospitals of our country, has largely been abandoned in the western world.

The modern burn units now manage burn injured patients with application of modern wound covers, like collagen sheets for superficial dermal burns, silver ion containing dressings for deep dermal burns and early excision and skin grafting for full thickness burns. Use of splints to prevent contractures, pressure garments for prevention of scars and regular physiotherapy of all patients in these units have improved functional results and have facilitated their appropriate rehabilitation.

Though less in number, some of the dedicated burn surgeons of our country, including a few from Assam, have adopted the modern line of management of the burn patients for last few years and have shown improved survival and impressive functional and cosmetic results of the burn patients.

Epidemiology of Paediatric Burns in a Burn Unit of North-East India

The study was carried out to find out the incidence of paediatric burns, the causative agents and the results of treatment in a tertiary care burn unit. The data was collected and analysed from the available records of the hospital during the particular period.

This retrospective review included 144 Paediatric burns up to 18 years of age treated in the Burn Unit of Nemcare Hospital, Guwahati, Assam over a period of 4 years from January 2010 to December 2013. This constituted 32.8% of the total burn patients treated in the hospital during this period. Forty four patients (30.5%) were found below the age of 4 years and the commonest cause was scald (54.1%). Six patients (4.1%) had electrical injury. Majority of the patients belonged to the families of low socioeconomic strata who used kerosene stoves and open fire for cooking. Proportionately more girls (81 cases) than boys sustained burn injuries. One hundred twenty six patients (87.5%) sustained injuries at home and kitchen was the commonest place. Majority of patients (65.9%) had less than 10% BSA burns, twenty three patients (15.9%) had more than 20% BSA burns. Five children (3.47%) died of the consequence of burns during the period of study.

It was concluded that all paediatric burns were accidental in nature, the commonest cause was hot liquids and majority being partial thickness burns. Proper education and counselling of the parents would reduce the incidence of paediatric burns.

From Hon. Secretary's desk:

Dear esteem members of Association of Surgeons of Assam,

Greetings from executive committee of ASA.

We are pleased to learn about your warm acceptance of the Spring Issue of our news letter "SURGERY POPYRUS". Your valuable support and constructive ideas will definitely help us to serve you in a better way.

I take the privilege to thank you all who have attended the Mid Term CME held at HAMM, Hospital, Hojai, Nagaon and made the event a grand success. Specially we cannot forget the quality arrangement and warm hospitality offered during the CME. I also like to offer special thanks to Dr. B.P. Sarma and his team for the success of the public awareness and training programme on burn injury during the session.

I take pleasure in informing you that preparation for our ensuing 26th annual conference "ASACON 2015", is in full swing at Jorhat, under the leadership of Org. Chairman Dr. Atul Ch. Baro and Org. Secretary Dr. Manab Jyoti Gohain. The organizing committee is trying its best to distribute invitation brochure and registration forms to all the members of ASA. The same is also available at our website www.asiassam.org for download. I like to request you all to participate in the conference in full strength. I also request you all to go for early registration, so that the organizing committee can do necessary arrangement to serve you better.

Dear members, I like to appeal to those friends who are still not a member of it to become member of Association of Surgeons of India at earliest possible, as the membership fees will rise to a much higher rate from the next session. At present the life membership fees is Rs. 7,700/- including fees for I D card, and the ASI head office has agreed to accept multi city cheques for the same (reducing the burden of making the Bank Draft). The membership forms are available in the web site of ASI, <http://asiindia.org/>. For any assistance please send a SMS or an E mail to me. It is also for your information that according to guideline of ASI, we, the Assam chapter of ASI (Association of Surgeons of Assam) after discussion in last two executive meeting has abolished the dual membership registration for our state chapter, as one who become member of ASI will automatically become member of our state chapter. Instead, we are asking a contribution of Rs 1050/- from new members as membership for our prestigious Journal JASA.

At last, I like to request you all who are already members of ASI to participate in the ensuing election of ASI, and registrar for e-voting, for which procedure have already been started. Increased number of participation by our members in e- voting will help our Assam Chapter to become more eligible for best chapter awards at all India level.

Hope, this issue of SURGERY POPYRUS will also be able to meet your expectations and you will find it attractive as before.

Thanking you all

Long live ASA!

Long live ASI!

Invitation

We take immense pleasure and pride to announce that we are hosting the XXVII Annual Conference of Association of Surgeons of Assam (Assam State Chapter of ASI) "ASACON 2015, JORHAT" from 30th October to 1st November, 2015 at the premises of Jorhat Medical College, Jorhat.

Jorhat was the last capital of Ahom Kingdom and presently not less important than the present capital of the state in terms of educational and cultural heritage and is surrounded by many tourist spots. It is well connected with the rest of the country by Air, Rail, Road. The venue, Jorhat Medical College was established in 2009 and equipped with latest medical technology and constructed with modern architectural plan. During this short span of time with a dedicated team it has achieved a reputation in academics and health care.

The organizing committee takes great pleasure in extending cordial invitation to you all for active participation in the various scientific programmes and contribute to the souvenir and register as delegate. Please send Articles for Souvenir, Abstract for Free papers, Posters & Competition papers and brief write up of CME presentation for scientific sessions.

The Organizing committee along with Staff and students of Jorhat Medical College are waiting to offer a red carpet welcome to you all for this academic bonanza where many renowned national and international speakers are going to participate to exchange their views with you.

Anticipating active participation from you all
